PERSIA AND ERANIA.

The event of the day is, it is to be feared, the displacement from their homes of a number of Persian Christians who have been living for many years near the Persian frontier. It is understood that these people are to be removed to the interior of the country.

The Persian government has long been opposed to the spread of Christianity in its territory, and has for many years been actively engaged in suppressing the influence of the Church. The government has also shown a marked preference for the Persian religion, and has taken steps to restrict the influence of Christianity in the country.

The removal of these Christian Persians to the interior of the country is likely to have a serious effect on the religious and social life of the region. The Christian community has long been a powerful influence in the area, and its removal is likely to have a weakening effect on the region. The government has long been opposed to the spread of Christianity in its territory, and has for many years been actively engaged in suppressing the influence of the Church. The government has also shown a marked preference for the Persian religion, and has taken steps to restrict the influence of Christianity in the country.
