Greetings, all! Welcome to New Orleans and the 2022 Annual Meeting of the Society for Historians of the Early Republic. A vibrant city known for its hospitality, it’s an ideal place for SHEAR members to come together and reconnect after our long separation. The conference hotel -- the Hotel Intercontinental – is steps away from the French Quarter and the riverfront. You’ll have a chance to delve deeper into the area’s past through a series of tours: to the Whitney Plantation, the only museum in Louisiana with an exclusive focus on the lives of enslaved people; to the Old New Orleans Mint, a branch mint of the U.S. Mint from 1838-1861 (and the home of the New Orleans Jazz Museum!); and to Chalmette Battlefield, the location of the Battle of New Orleans. In addition, our receptions will give you a chance to sample local foods while mingling with friends. So let the good times roll!

There are many to thank for this conference. A big thank you to National Conference Coordinator Robyn Davis, who kept countless wheels spinning for months on end, all while transitioning us back into meeting in person. The great Jonathan Earle chaired the Local Arrangements Committee, joined by Randy S. Sparks and Erin Greenwald; together, they’ve made wonderful use of our locale and laid out a big welcome. Program Committee co-chairs Caitlin Fitz and Christopher Bonner were stellar in casting a bold and innovative conference vision, along with the essential work and insights of Committee members Brooke Bauer, Jonathan Earle, Justene Edwards, Brian Franklin, Jessica Marie Johnson, Stephanie E. Jones-Rogers, Lindsay Keiter, Adam Xavier McNeil, Hayley Negrin, Erika Pani, Sarah Weicksel, and Shane White. We owe all of these people a tremendous debt of gratitude for giving so much of their time and energy to making this conference happen.

Things get underway on Thursday night with the President’s Plenary, titled “Violence as Politics.” The panel explores the history of an issue with gripping relevance in the present day: the place of violence in a democratic politics. A functioning democracy is grounded on conflict. Electoral contests, legislation, protest, and activism are tools -- even weapons -- of the democratic process. But what does it mean when violence gets deliberately yoked into the political process itself? In the past, we've seen failures of constitutional and legislative politics lead to the adoption of violent measures to counter repressive powerholders -- as with abolitionism. We've seen violence encoded into electoral politics as a tool of exclusion. We've seen violence as statecraft, masked as policy and marked by mirages of choices and options for those affected and afflicted -- as with the United States seizing western lands. We've seen violence taken up as a tool of revolution, as in the North American colonies and Haiti. What can we learn from moments when violence was adopted as an acceptable and even praiseworthy form of politics? What do they tell us about the nexus of democracy and power? What insights might they offer into the violence-hedged politics of today? Ranging from the eastern seaboard to the western frontier to the southern border, from on the ground protestors and victims to government policymakers, from the Revolution through the years leading up to the Civil War, this panel will explore these and other questions, joined by the participation of the audience.

We’ll also be tying together past and present at some special forums this year. On Friday, we’ll have a discussion of Indigenous Histories of the Gulf, including local scholars with local insights. That same day, we’ll have a forum focused on the challenges inherent in diminishing resources and contingent teaching positions in the production of history content. On Saturday, we have a special panel featuring secondary school history teachers who will discuss the challenges of teaching history during the “History Wars” — a vital topic that teachers and historians of all kinds should address together.

This year’s Presidential Address, “The Politics of Outrage,” will link past and present in yet another way, looking at the power and play that outrage has had in the politics of the past. The address will be followed by our annual recognition of the scholarly achievements of our members: the awarding of the SHEAR Book Prize and James C. Bradford Biography Prize -- Christopher Grasso (Chair), Laurel Shire, Craig Friend; the James H. Broussard Best First Book Prize – Christine Sears (chair), Kellie Carter Jackson, Karin Wulf; the Mary Kelley Prize in Gender and Women’s History – Nora Doyle (chair), Kabria Baumgartner, Lucia McMahon; along with the Ralph D. Gray Article Prize, and the SHEAR Dissertation Prize.

As ever, this year we continue our commitment to new generations of scholars, beginning with Graduate Research Seminars being held online on Wednesday, July 20. We also have three workshops: a Biography Workshop; a Second-Book Writers’ Workshop; and – online on July 26, after the conference – a timely workshop titled “From Conference Paper to Journal Article,” held by the editors of the Journal of the Early Republic.

Finally, there will be social sessions for meeting, sharing, and learning about each other and our scholarship: a Coffee and Pop session with the JER editors (SODA, people! Soda!); a Graduate Student Meet-n-Greet on Friday night; and the Boydston Women’s Breakfast on Saturday morning, as well as informal refreshment breaks throughout the conference.

One final note: sadly, this will be our first in-person SHEAR conference without its founder, Jim Broussard. We look forward to commemorating him and his many contributions in Philadelphia next year.

All in all, this promises to be a wonderful opportunity for us to gather as a community; learn about each other’s work and new directions in scholarship; reconnect with old friends and make new ones; and explore the history, culture, and entertainment of our vibrant host city. After a period of being apart, it will be wonderful to come together. I look forward to seeing you there.

President-elect

Established in 1977, the Society for Historians of the Early American Republic is an association of scholars dedicated to exploring events and meanings of United States history between 1776 and 1861.

SHEAR’s mission is to foster the study of the early republican period among professional historians, students, and the general public. It upholds the highest intellectual standards of the historical profession and encourages the broad diffusion of historical insights through all appropriate channels, including schools, museums, libraries, electronic media, public programming, archives, and publications. SHEAR cherishes a democratic ethos in scholarship and cultivates close, respectful, and productive exchanges between serious scholars at every level of experience and recognition.

SHEAR membership is open to all. Most members are professional historians employed in colleges, universities, museums, and historical parks and agencies, as well as independent scholars and graduate students.

The ideas and institutions of the United States’ founding era are part of the cultural legacy of every American. The Society for Historians of the Early American Republic seeks to enrich that legacy with the deepest insights of historical research, combined with a spirit of intellectual democracy best expressed in ongoing communication with the public. SHEAR PRIZES

SHEAR presents six awards after the Presidential Address on Saturday, July 23rd.

The SHEAR Book Prize is awarded to an original monograph published in the previous year that deals with the period 1776-1861 in America.

The James H. Broussard Best First Book Prize is awarded to the best monograph by a new author published in the previous calendar year and dealing with any aspect of the history of the early American republic.

The Mary Kelley Prize in the History of Women, Gender, and Sexuality honors the best book published on the history of women, gender, or sexuality in the early American republic.

The James C. Bradford Biography Prize is awarded to the author of an original biography, broadly defined, of a person active during the early republic.

The Ralph D. Gray Article Prize honors the best original article published in the previous volume of the JER.

The SHEAR Dissertation Prize is presented in cooperation with Penn Press to an exceptional unpublished dissertation pertaining to the history of North America from 1776 to 1861.

The SHEAR Distinguished Service award recognizes generous and enduring service on behalf of the goals and programs of the Society for Historians of the Early American Republic. It recognizes the kind of commitment without which voluntary organizations such as SHEAR could not thrive. Since it was established in 2014, the award has been presented nine times.

WELCOME TO NEW ORLEANS!

“There is on the globe one single spot, the possessor of which is our natural and habitual enemy. It is New Orleans, through which the produce of three eighths of our territory must pass to market.” – Thomas Jefferson to Robert Livingston, 1802

The geographical, economic, political, and cultural centrality of the crescent-shaped bowl of earth and swamp between the Mississippi River and Lake Ponchartrain was already true for decades before Jefferson made this observation, and is still very much true today. And yet somehow it is the first time SHEAR has met in this centrally-important metropolis in its 44-year existence. Thankfully we are rectifying that this summer – welcome to New Orleans!

For many visitors, the city conjures images of Carnival and jazz, Creole food and vibrant neighborhoods. But as historians of the early American republic, each of us knows there is far more below the surface. And since Hurricane Katrina made landfall in August of 2005, new types of disaster, despair and, yes, resurgence have become synonymous with New Orleans.

The overarching vision of this year’s local arrangements committee has been to offer up plenty of time and space to explore the city and its many delights on your own or with friends/colleagues. “You literally can’t go wrong” is a phrase we hear constantly about historical walks, food, drinks, and cultural experiences. But we have arranged some planned activities for SHEARites.

Plan to visit the Whitney Plantation on Thursday prior to the start of the conference. The site is the only museum in Louisiana with an exclusive focus on the lives of enslaved people – and also one of the main sites of the 1811 German Coast uprising, the largest slave insurgency in U.S. History. The tour will be led by Director of Research Ibrahima Seck. The bus will leave from the hotel at 10:00 a.m. for the 45-minute drive upriver.

Also on Thursday join local experts for a walking tour of Faubourg Tremé (pronounced Trem-ay), the oldest African American neighborhood in what is now the United States, to learn more about its significance in the antebellum era as well as the one of the fountainheads of the Southern Civil Rights Movement and the birthplace of jazz.

On Friday take some time for a walking tour of the French Quarter, just across Canal Street from the conference hotel. We might suggest avoiding the ghost, voodoo, and pirate tours and booking directly with the Friends of the Cabildo, located on 701 Chartres Street (pronounced “Charters”), adjacent to the Cathedral.

After sessions conclude on Friday evening walk, bike, Lyft, or Streetcar your way across the French Quarter to 400 Esplanade Avenue to the Old New Orleans Mint, now home to the New Orleans Jazz Museum. During its years of operation, the Mint produced over 427 million gold and silver coins of nearly every American denomination. Today the Mint houses the New Orleans Jazz Museum, which celebrates jazz in the city where it was born.

On Sunday, join us for a tour of the Chalmette Battlefield, site of the Battle of New Orleans – the last land battle fought on American soil between the United States and a foreign enemy. Bus leaves from hotel at 12:30 but the Battlefield is also a reasonable taxi or Lyft ride away. [The tour will include a demonstration of weaponry by a U.S. black powder ranger.]
Beyond the planned activities, here are some other suggestions for how to spend non-conference time. Each of us urges you to brave the stifling humidity of the South Louisiana July and visit nearby neighborhoods on your own (within walking distance are the French Quarter, Faubourg Tremé, Faubourg Marigny, the Bywater, and the Warehouse District. Short streetcar/taxi rides away are the Garden District and Uptown. Visit parks: City Park (home of the New Orleans Art Museum), Audubon Park (designed by John Charles Olmstead), Crescent Park (on the River passing through the Marigny and Bywater), and Armstrong Park, home of Congo Square.

Speaking of the Mighty Mississippi: do plan to have a look at the river in all its continent-draining glory. Great vantages include the Moon Walk in the French Quarter (just behind Café Du Monde and its delicious beignets), Crescent Park, and Audubon Riverview Park Uptown. Try a debris Poboy or a muffaletta, the sandwich of Italian New Orleans. Talk to the locals: they’ll usually offer up their favorite place for a cocktail, to hear live music, or to sample the local cuisine.

Music. Follow your ears to find what you like, from the buskers in Jackson Square to the venerable Preservation Hall on St. Peter to the outstanding clubs on Frenchmen Street, extending from the southeast corner of the French Quarter through the Marigny. Many have traditional jazz happy hours with no cover charge; expect to pay $20-$30 for name acts that play well into the night. Uptown is the glorious Maple Leaf Bar. Be sure to check the “Guardians of the Groove” WWOZ Livewire Music Calendar.

Follow the links to other interesting attractions to explore, most a short walk, streetcar or taxi ride from the hotel. And don’t hesitate to ask one of us for restaurant recommendations (a list would fill more space in this program than we were allotted). And, again, “you can’t go wrong.”

CONFERENCE HIGHLIGHTS

Graduate Research Seminars, Tuesday 19 July and Wednesday 20 July. Continuing SHEAR’s long tradition of mentoring graduate students, senior scholars will lead research seminars for advanced graduate students and recent graduates, devoted to different scholarly topics in the history of the early United States and its world. To promote accessibility and broad participation, these will be held online before the conference opens.

Tour Whitney Plantation, Thursday 21 July. Research Director Dr. Ibrahima Seck will lead the tour. Whitney Plantation in Edgard is unique, the only museum in Louisiana with an exclusive focus on the lives of enslaved people. Founded in 1752 as Habitation Haydel by one of the many German immigrants to colonize the River Parishes in the 18th century, the labor camp was a main site of the 1811 German Coast Uprising, the largest slave insurgency in U.S. history. Bus departs from the hotel at 10:00 am; returns by 4:00

Tour Faubourg Tremé, Thursday 21 July. Guided walking tour of New Orleans’ first Black neighborhood featuring St. Augustine Church, Congo Square, the remnants of Storyville, the Tomb of the Unknown Slave, and more. Tour meets at Backatown Coffee, 301 Basin St. and ends at New Orleans African American Museum. Wear comfortable walking shoes and bring water.

Biography Writers’ Workshop, Thursday 21 July. Presenters will cover topics related to historical biography followed by breakout working groups that have read and will offer feedback on each other’s projects.
Second-Book Writers’ Workshop, Thursday 21 July. Four senior scholar mentors will each facilitate a workshop session for historians of the early American republic who are currently working on second book projects.

President’s Plenary, Thursday 21 July. SHEAR’s 43rd annual conference opens at 6:00 pm with the President’s Plenary.

Plenary Reception, Thursday 21 July. In the Intercontinental immediately following the President’s Plenary, from 7:30 to 9:00 pm.

Perk and Pop with the JER Editors, Friday 22 July: Johann Neem and Andy Shankman invite graduate students and early career scholars to meet for an informal early-morning conversation.

Forum: Indigenous Histories of the Gulf, Friday 22 July. This panel will center Indigenous histories and explore how the narratives historians tell about the U.S. and Indigenous past shape the present and the future.

JER Editorial Board Meeting, Friday 22 July. The JER editorial board meets at 12:30 pm.

2023 Program Committee Meeting, Friday 22 July. The Program Committee for the 2023 SHEAR conference in Philadelphia will meet at 12:30.

Business Meeting and Ice Cream Social, Friday 22 July. Join us at SHEAR’s business meeting, open to all, and the second annual ice cream social, featuring assorted frozen confections.
Forum: Material Conditions in the Production of Early American History Today, Friday 22 July. Who gets to produce scholarship on early America? This panel will discuss changing material conditions affecting historians’ labor. The stakes are real: if we seek a diverse and vibrant scholarly community, what happens when growing numbers of historians lack the time and resources to produce scholarship? What should SHEAR do?

Tour of Old New Orleans Mint/New Orleans Jazz Museum, Friday 22 July. The New Orleans Mint operated in New Orleans as a branch mint of the United States Mint from 1838-1861 and from 1879-1909. During its years of operation, it produced over 427 million gold and silver coins of nearly every American denomination, with a total face value of over US$ 307 million. Today the mint houses the New Orleans Jazz Museum, which celebrates jazz in the city where it was born. The tour begins at 7:00 pm.

Graduate Student Meet-n-Greet, Friday 22 July. Graduate students at the conference can meet and mingle at an informal gathering beginning at 9:00 pm at Pete’s in the conference hotel.

Boydston Women’s Breakfast, Saturday 22 July. The women of SHEAR will gather from 7:30 to 9:00 a.m. for their thirteenth annual breakfast honoring the life and career of long-time SHEAR member and supporter Jeanne Boydston. Tickets are $30.00 for a hearty and heartening breakfast; reservations are required.

SHEAR Advisory Council, Saturday 22 July. The Advisory Council meets at 12:30 pm.

Forum: Teaching History Amidst the History Wars, Saturday 22 July. The last several years have seen a sharp rise across the nation in the politicization of history education. This forum brings together secondary school teachers who will offer reflections on how teachers have approached historical content amid shifting legal, political, and cultural contexts.

Presidential Address, Saturday 23 July. The 2022 presidential address begins at 6:00 pm. SHEAR President Joanne Freeman will discuss “The Politics of Outrage.”

Awards Ceremony, Saturday 23 July. The SHEAR awards ceremony will immediately follow the Presidential Address.

Closing Reception, Saturday 23 July. The SHEAR closing reception follows immediately after the Awards ceremony.

Tour of Chalmette Battlefield, site of the Battle of New Orleans, Sunday 24 July. The last land battle ever fought on American soil between the United States and a foreign enemy took place just outside of New Orleans on a site now known as the Chalmette Battlefield. The Battle of New Orleans, which occurred nearly 2 weeks after the Treaty of Ghent ended the War of 1812, kept the British from capturing New Orleans and elevated Andrew Jackson to national prominence. Tour leaves from the hotel at 1:00 pm.

From Conference Paper to Journal Article Workshop, 26 July. The JER editors and peers will meet online to discuss feedback and plans for revising conference papers into publishable journal articles. Post-conference online workshop.
HOTEL FLOOR PLANS

SHEAR 2022 meets in person in the Crescent City this July. All events will take place at the conference hotel, the Intercontinental New Orleans, located at 444 St. Charles Avenue, steps away from the French Quarter and the riverfront. À bientôt!

General Sessions will convene on the 11th floor of the Pan Am Life Center, connected via atrium from the 1st floor of the Intercontinental

COVID-19 INFORMATION

Masks encouraged.

Under current guidelines the city of New Orleans encourages but does not require wearing masks in indoor spaces. The city also encourages all residents and visitors to be vaccinated, including booster shots as appropriate, and suggests that all assess individual risks and consider face coverings in public.

SHEAR will follow local guidelines and encourages all attendees, speakers, exhibitors, and staff to continue to wear masks in any SHEAR designated space (breakout rooms, exhibit hall, lobby areas outside these spaces) for the safety of others.

We will update this as necessary in response to changing health guidelines.
J19, the official journal of C19: The Society of Nineteenth-Century Americanists, is published by the University of Pennsylvania Press and co-edited by Stacey Margolis and Elizabeth Duquette. An interdisciplinary journal published twice annually, J19 is dedicated to publishing innovative research on and analysis of the “long nineteenth century” (1783–1914).

C19 Membership
A subscription to J19 is included in all C19 memberships.

For information on how to join C19, please visit the C19 membership website at:

Check out The Panorama, the digital platform of The Journal of the Early Republic and a hub for the @SHEARites virtual community. It is a place for early Americanists to hold informal conversations of issues raised by the cutting-edge scholarship published in the JER and discussed at SHEAR.

Think of The Panorama as inhabiting the space between the freewheeling eclecticism of a traditional blog and the stately formalism of a traditional scholarly journal. Our conversations will be timely but not reactive. In this quiet corner of the early Americanist internet, we invite SHEAR’s deep intellectual bench to let its hair down just a bit.

Our mission is to surround the scholarship in the JER with supplementary materials and related discussions, and to immerse readers in the process of researching, writing, and teaching the early American republic.

Over the past half decade, these discussions have encompassed the pedagogical challenges and opportunities of teaching the latest research in the field; the research methodologies and archival techniques behind these new findings; and the moral, political, and philosophical imperatives of being a scholar of early America in the twenty-first century.

JER Panels at SHEAR 2022

Plenary: The Material Conditions of Historians’ Labor: A Roundtable
Friday July 22, 5-6:45pm
This panel addresses the labor conditions that shape who has the resources, time, and incentive to produce scholarship in early American history. Drawing on the expertise and experiences of scholars outside the tenure line, we ask tough questions about how changing material conditions will impact scholarship, and what organizations like SHEAR might do about it. This forum will be published in the JER Winter 2023.

Critical Engagements: What’s in a Name?
Friday July 22, 2-3:45pm
The terms we use to describe people in the past and the present are changing around us. What’s at stake in whether we describe people in the past as disabled, enslaved, or Indigenous? This panel explores the fraught territory of how we name people in the past and why it matters. An expanded version of this forum will be published in JER Spring 2023.

Second Annual Conference Paper to Article Workshop
For the second year, the JER’s editors will convene a virtual workshop at the end of July to help scholars turn their conference papers into articles! Our goal is to demystify the process and provide every participant concrete advice on how they might revise their papers. A great opportunity for junior scholars. Please contact the editors to learn more.

Georgia Open History Library

The Georgia Open History Library (GOHL) includes open-access digital editions of single-authored scholarly titles and two multivolume series, comprising almost fifty individual volumes in history and primary documents. The open text library was generously funded by the National Endowment for the Humanities in anticipation of the 250th anniversary of the founding of the United States in 2026. Our title selection, not surprisingly, focuses on the colony and eventual statehood of Georgia and its relationship with other groups, colonies, countries, and the new Union. It includes studies of Adams and Jefferson; the American Revolution in Georgia; the Creek Nation; the papers of Revolutionary War general Lachlan McIntosh and the colony’s visionary founder James Edward Oglethorpe; and records of the German-speaking Protestant Salzburger settlement.

The books included in the GOHL were chosen by an advisory board of esteemed Georgia historians for their broad historical and intellectual significance throughout the colonial and early statehood periods. The majority of the volumes are primary sources, documents, and records that have been the wellspring for most of the research on this period in Georgia history since their original publications.

Together the library constitutes the most fulsome portrait of early Georgia and its inhabitants—European, Indigenous, and diasporic African—available from primary sources. Of particular importance are the colonial records of the state of Georgia and what are widely regarded as the essential supplements to those records: the journals and/or letters of the Earl of Egmont, Peter Gordon, and Henry Newton, as well as the two publications of General James Edward Oglethorpe’s own writings.

The titles are available and discoverable as open digital editions at the following sites:

- Affordable Learning Georgia: oor.galileo.usg.edu
- UGA Press’s Manifold platform: ugapress.manifoldapp.org
- Digital Public Library of America Exchange and Open Bookshelf
- Yankee Book Peddler
- Project MUSE
- Books at JSTOR
- HathiTrust

They are also available to purchase individually as print paperback and Kindle editions.

Michael John Witgen
Seeing Red
"[A] scathing account. . . . [Witgen's] incisive and deeply researched study lays bare the mechanisms of this historical land grab."
—Publishers Weekly

Samantha Seeley
Race, Removal, and the Right to Remain
"Seeley makes us see the long era of removal in an entirely new way. A revolutionary book and a model for telling all our histories together.”
—Kathleen DuVal, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill

Hannah Farber
Underwriters of the United States
"[Farber] fathoms an ocean of risk, and plumbs the moral philosophy of the paper pushers who tugged for profit in those stormy seas, and who shaped the fragile new nation in the process.”
—Jane Kamensky, Harvard University

Katherine Carté
Religion and the American Revolution
"Carté’s book is valuable to anyone who wants to understand the role of established religion in the British Empire and the reasons why established religion was abandoned after the war.”
—Journal of the American Revolution

Jan Ellen Lewis
Edited by Barry Braverman, Annette Gordon-Reed, and Peter S. Onuf
Family, Slavery, and Love in the Early American Republic
"Field changing when it was first published, [Lewis’s] work has maintained its relevance ever since.”
—Serena Zabin, Carleton College

Carolyn Eastman
The Strange Genius of Mr. O
"Eastman’s stunning archival research brings James Ogilvie, a melancholy man once celebrated as a stage actor, back to life. With deft analysis and lovely prose, she offers new insights into the aspirations of Americans who lived through the republic’s first tumultuous decades.”
—Ann Fabricant, author of The Skull Collectors: Race, Science, and America's Unhunted Dead
THE ESSENTIAL HAMILTON
Letters & Other Writings
Joanne B. Freeman, editor
Selected and introduced by acclaimed historian Joanne B. Freeman, here is a fully annotated reader's edition of Hamilton’s most important public writings and private letters, plus the correspondence between Burr and Hamilton that led to their duel and two conflicting eyewitness accounts of their fatal encounter.
PB: 447 pp. • 978-1-59853-536-5 • $14.95

THE ESSENTIAL DEBATE ON THE CONSTITUTION
Federalist & Antifederalist Speeches and Writings
Robert J. Allison & Bernard Bailyn, editors
More than sixty newspaper articles, pamphlets, speeches, and private letters by more than forty writers, including all the most essential Federalist essays, capture the dramatic original debates—on presidential power, religious liberty, foreign corruption, and more—that still shape our world today.
PB: 506 pp. • 978-1-59853-583-9 • $16.95

“A vital resource for students and concerned citizens alike.”
Gordon S. Wood

THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION

CALL FOR PAPERS: PHILADELPHIA 13-16 JULY 2023

The 44th annual meeting of the Society for Historians of the Early American Republic will return to its home in Philadelphia, 13-16 July 2023. The Program Committee invites proposals for sessions and papers exploring all aspects of and approaches to the history and culture of the early American republic, c. 1776-1861. We particularly encourage submissions that:

- fill gaps in historical narratives, speak to key historiographical questions, and/or address pressing contemporary issues;
- reflect the diversity of the past and expand narratives of the early American republic to highlight Indigenous, Black, and global histories;
- focus on pedagogy and/or public history, as well as on digital humanities and other alternative methodologies;
- take nontraditional forms, such as centering audience participation, sharing pre-circulated papers, or assessing the state of a given field.

SHEAR is committed to inclusion and diversity and encourages panels that feature members of groups who have been historically underrepresented within the organization. Potential panelists should seek gendered, racial, institutional, interpretive, and career diversity, and each panel proposal should include a statement about how the panel furthers SHEAR’s commitment to diversity. Individual proposals will be considered, but the Program Committee prioritizes proposals for complete panels including a chair and commentator. The committee will consider proposals for traditional panels (3-4 papers plus chair and comment), Roundtables (4-5 presenters plus chair/moderator), or other creative formats. In select cases, the committee may choose to alter or rearrange proposed panels and participants. Refer to the guidance available at https://www.shear.org/proposal-guidelines/ as you prepare your proposal.

All submissions should be filed as a single document (Word doc preferred), labeled with the first initial and surname of the contact person (e.g., “SmithJ2023”). All proposals must include:

- Panel title, one-paragraph description of panel topic, and one-paragraph panel diversity statement
- Email addresses and institutional affiliations (if applicable) for all participants
- Title and 100-word abstract for each paper
- One-page curriculum vitae for each participant, including chairs and commentators
- Indication of any needs for ADA accommodation
- Indication of any audio-visual requests (please request only if A/V is essential to a presentation)

The deadline for submission is December 1, 2022. Please submit your proposals by email at SHEAR2023@gmail.com with “SHEAR 2023” in the subject line.
