Program in Early American Economy and Society

The Library Company of Philadelphia's Program in Early American Economy and Society fosters scholarship in, and public understanding of, the origins and growth of the early American economy, broadly conceived, from its origins in the colonial era and through the antebellum period.

The Program supports scholarship research in many fields that fall under this general rubric, including commerce, manufacturing, labor, technology, transportation, finance, agriculture, the environment, and social development. Now in its second year, the Program has initiated a number of activities that draw researchers together and connect scholars across these fields throughout the country and abroad.

PEAES sponsors a fellowship program, a monograph publication series, an annual prize for the best journal article(s) relating to the early American economy, seminars, acquisitions of printed materials which augment the Library Company of Philadelphia's already rich collections, a survey of manuscript and printed resources in economic history throughout the wider Philadelphia region, a collection of current research on the early national economy, and more.

PEAES held its inaugural conference on April 20-21, 2001, and would invite all interested scholars to read the papers which were presented there and are on the Program's website:
www.librarycompany.org.

For further information please contact Cathy Matson, PEAES Director, at cmatson@udel.edu.

JOURNAL OF THE EARLY REPUBLIC

Established in 1981 by the Society for Historians of the Early American Republic, the Journal of the Early Republic is a quarterly magazine devoted to fostering scholarly exchange and promoting the study of the early national period of the United States.

Articles in the Journal relate to all aspects of the history and culture of the United States—economic and political, diplomatic and military, legal and social, including aspects of cultural, ethnic, religious, and gender history. Other features include book reviews and notices, and listings of recent articles and dissertations related to history during the early republic.

Annual individual subscriptions, which also include a membership in SHEAR, are $20 for income under $30,000; $25 for income between $30,000 and $40,000; and $30 for income over $40,000. Institutional subscriptions are $40. A student subscription is available for $15. All subscriptions for locations outside of the United States must include an additional $4 for postage.
